Board & Advisory Profile

Selective board and advisory roles supporting companies navigating technology-driven transformation in marine, energy and industrial markets.

Profile summary

Marcel Flipse is an experienced executive, advisor and board-level sparring partner with a strong background in engineering, international business development and general management. His career spans sustainable shipping, energy transition, industrial technology and power generation, with a strong emphasis on translating innovative technology into commercially viable market adoption.

Board & advisory value

- Independent, technology-literate board perspective
- Strategic positioning and long-term value creation
- Governance, risk awareness and decision support
- Bridging technology, commercial strategy and stakeholders
- Sound judgement in complex, regulated environments

Typical advisory situations

- Start-ups and scale-ups transitioning from pilot to commercial scale
- Companies entering new international or maritime markets
- Boards assessing decarbonisation, energy-efficiency or new propulsion technologies
- Shareholders seeking experienced, independent strategic guidance

Working model & availability

Selective, part-time engagement (on average three days per week), focused on impact, knowledge transfer, sound decision-making and long-term value creation. Roles may include supervisory board positions, advisory board membership or independent strategic advisor to management.
